THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Sept. 13.—The shock of the previ-dent's relapse tell upon the stock market with even greater force than did the first attack upon him. The measure of this effect is to be seen in the fact that prices, as a rule, fell today below the low level of Saturday. The amount of offerings of government bunds brought over by Secrefary Gage's proposals were disoppointing, the total reaching only shout $7,500,000, compared with the $20,000,000 invited, but, as payments were made for these in each upon presentation at the sub-treasury today, most of the offeren comis being sold in New York, this became a very important meident of the day, pouring an alon-dant stream of money into the market at the vers moment of greatest need. The appreciation of this situation was seen in the prompt offer-ings of the bonds at the sub-treasury, the pay
